

ANNUAL REPORT

2010 – 2011

Cambridge Australia
Scholarships Limited
ACN 146 517 336

INTRODUCTION

Cambridge Australia Scholarships Limited (CAS), ACN 146 517 366, was incorporated on 24 September 2010 as a not-for-profit company limited by guarantee.

Its Constitution, and details of its operations, are available on the website:

www.cambridgeaustralia.org.au.

As a result of 2010 changes to the Corporations Act 2001, CAS is considered a small company limited by guarantee with consolidated revenue less than the statutory threshold of $250,000. As such it is not required, unless directed to do so under specified circumstances, to:

- prepare a financial report or have it audited;
- prepare a directors' report; or
- notify members of annual reports.

However, given that the directors of CAS intend it to operate, wherever possible, in accordance with good corporate governance principles, CAS has published this Annual Report.

CAS has a close relationship with the Australian National University (ANU) formalised by an agreement dated 19 October 2010 between CAS, ANU and the Cambridge Commonwealth Trust. By this agreement, CAS and ANU agree to co-operate for the purposes of Cambridge scholarships in Australia. The ANU Endowment for Excellence holds most scholarship funds, as it has done since the early 1980s, and is audited by the Australian National Audit Office.

It is important to emphasize that, notwithstanding this association with the ANU, CAS operates independently of all universities, and has close ties across Australia. Our selection panels, both for Ph.D and Masters awards, are made up of eminent academics from across the country. We are always looking for ways to extend these relationships.

CHAIR'S REPORT

"Creating an organisation for the future"

It is a privilege to chair Cambridge Australia Scholarships (CAS).

CAS exists for one purpose: to support the best and brightest Australians to study at one of the world's leading universities. Nearly 1,000 Australians have been, directly or indirectly, supported by CAS (and its predecessor, the Cambridge Australia Trust) since the mid 1980s. These alumni are now in significant positions of global leadership across a range of areas including Government, business, the professions, academia and science.

We should be collectively proud of this, and grateful to the generous donors who have made these achievements possible. CAS receives no public support; what has been achieved to date – and will be in the future – depends solely on the generosity of individuals and organisations.

We still have challenges ahead to establish CAS as a sustainable and effective organisation. In particular, the board and I would like to increase the level of representation from NSW and WA in particular.

If you feel able to assist CAS in any way, please feel free to contact me.

Richard Dammary
Chair
(Trinity, Ph.D, 1987)

DIRECTORS

The Constitution of CAS states that the Company must have a minimum of four, and not more than twelve, directors. Directors are appointed for a period of 2 years, and may be re-elected for up to three consecutive terms.

Where possible, the Board should be nationally representative: i.e. have a representative who is resident in each State and Territory.

During 2010-11, the directors of CAS were:

Dr Richard Dammary, Chair (VIC)

Richard completed a Ph.D at Trinity College between 1987 to 1990. He is currently a corporate partner of Minter Ellison Lawyers, based in Melbourne.

SNAPSHOT: PAST YEAR 2010-11

GETTING MOVING

2011 has been the 'establishment phase' of Cambridge Australia Scholarships Ltd (CAS). Highlights include:

"Establishing CAS to enhance the availability of Cambridge scholarships to Australians"

- launching a new website (www.cambridgeaustralia.org.au)
- Integrating this with our scholar/alumni database so we can keep in touch with past and current scholars
- Establishing and refreshing the board of directors
- Strengthening the relationship with the Cambridge Commonwealth Trust and the Cambridge University Development Office
- Having Australia's achievements recognised by Cambridge University through the induction of CAS as a Companion of the 'Guild of Cambridge Benefactors'.

PH.D SCHOLARSHIPS

In 2011, nine Ph.D Scholarships were awarded. The selected scholars will join/replace 36 Australians currently resident in Cambridge and supported by CAS.

MASTERS DEGREE SCHOLARSHIPS

Only one Masters scholarship was awarded by CAS in 2011 (with one deferred), due largely to fewer applicants than in past years. Since CAS has the capacity to award up to five Masters' scholarships a year, this was a little disappointing.

OUR ALUMNI NETWORK

Having established a database of all CAS/Cambridge Australia Trust alumni, we are well placed to establish a more vibrant scholar alumni network.

RELATIONSHIP WITH CAMBRIDGE

Our relationship with the Cambridge Commonwealth and Overseas Trusts, and the University of Cambridge generally, has never been stronger. It was extremely pleasing that the University saw fit to honour CAS in March 2011 by inducting it as a Companion of the Guild of Cambridge Benefactors.

SCHOLARSHIPS SUB-COMMITTEE REPORT

Ph.D Scholarships

Ten of the applicants received an offer of a scholarship. One of these decided to defer until 2012. The final nine CAS Ph.D scholars for 2011 are listed below:

| Name | Subject | Scholarship |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------|---|
| Mr Gareth Ainsworth | Pure Mathematics | R A Fisher Cambridge Australia Scholarship |
| Miss Madeleine Yates | Engineering | Poynton Cambridge Australia Scholarship |
| Ms Alysia Blackham | Legal Studies | Poynton Cambridge Australia Scholarship |
| Mr Matthew Dunstan | Chemistry | Poynton Cambridge Australia Scholarship |
| Ms Anne Hanley | History | Allen Cambridge Australia Scholarship |
| Mr Brendan McConnell | Chemistry | Poynton Cambridge Australia Scholarship |
| Mr Jonathan Scarlett | Engineering | Poynton Cambridge Australia International Scholarship |
| Miss Michelle Wallis | History and Philosophy of Science | Poynton Cambridge Australia International Scholarship |
| Mr Matthew Young | Astronomy | Poynton Cambridge Australia Scholarship |

The membership of the selection committee was the Professor John Love (ANU, Chair), Professor Andrew Dzurak (UNSW), Professor Jan Anderson (ANU), Professor Andrew Holmes (University of Melbourne), Professor Nicolas Peterson (ANU) and Professor Anona Armstrong (Victoria University). Ms Liz Walters assisted the committee.

The committee considered 34 applications provided by the Cambridge Commonwealth Trust. These were ranked individually by the committee members, and submitted to Professor Love who collated the various assessments. The committee met on 25 March 2011 at the ANU in Canberra to discuss any differences in the rating and arrived at a consensus.

Masters Selection 2011

Details of nine candidates were provided to the selection panel by the Cambridge Commonwealth Trust. This was a smaller number than prior years, in which there have been up to about 30 eligible candidates for these scholarships. The scholarships are currently open to Victorians or graduates of Victorian universities.

Five candidates were shortlisted for interview on 6 June 2011, following a preliminary assessment of candidates conducted on 26 May 2011. One shortlisted candidate decided to defer, and so was not interviewed. The panel was impressed by the quality of the remaining four candidates and considered that they all fulfilled the selection criteria for the Masters scholarships. Therefore all four interviewed applicants received offers of a scholarship.

Subsequently, one candidate accepted an alternative scholarship, another declined the offer of a place at Cambridge, and a third decided to defer until 2012. Given the small field this year, the selection panel decided that only one Patrick Moore / Charles Allen scholarship would be awarded, to Ms Liane Hartnett for an MPhil in International Relations.

The members of the selection panel for the CAS Victorian Masters Scholarships this year were Dr James Forrest (chair), Professor Anona Armstrong and Mr Jerry Platt. Mr Patrick Moore assisted in the shortlisting and final review processes.

Other Scholarships

In addition to the scholars noted above, 16 other Australians were awarded other scholarships under the auspices of the CCT. This includes six Ph.D scholarships, five Masters scholarships and five undergraduate scholarships. Including the scholarships awarded by CAS, this means a total of 26 outstanding Australian scholars have been supported this year.
